DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 17-19, 21-22 and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Duginske et al.

Duginske discloses the invention including a single housing 40, two opposing guide structures (46 and 47) with substantially flat opposing surfaces and as cubes within the single housing, an adjustor 48, a passage, an attachment mount 33, a trust bearing (34 and 36), a work table 16 and a band saw.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 20 and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Duginske et al. in view of Perkins.

Art Unit: 3724

Duginske discloses the invention substantially as claimed except for an externally accessible hand operable a set of screws and a bore. However, Perkins teaches the use of an externally accessible hand operable a set of screws 14 and a bore (see Fig. 3) for the purpose of laterally adjusting the guiding disks. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified Duginske's adjustor by providing the externally accessible hand operable the set of screws and the bore as taught by Perkins in order to obtain an easy and quick adjustment of the guide block.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Duginske does not teach two laterally adjustable opposing guide structures disposed completely within a single housing collectively forming a passage, which is in substantial alignment with the cut-out of such single housing. In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., completely) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). Also, that Duginske teaches two laterally adjustable opposing guide structures disposed within a single housing collectively forming a passage Fig.3, which is in substantial alignment with the cut-out of such single housing.

Art Unit: 3724
